

A Horse For The Heart Doctor

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, second from right, famed Houston, Tex., heart surgeon, accepts the gift of a Tennessee walking mare from Charles Ford, left, of Sargent, Neb., and his son, Charles, 12. The horse was given to Dr. Cooley by Dr. Robert Westbrook of Sargent as payment for surgery performed at Texas Children's Hospital on 23-month-old Kinsey Byam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Byam of Brewster, Neb. Dr. Westbrook is the Byams' family physician. The horse was delivered to Texas by the Fords. Dr. Cooley will take the mare to his ranch.

Bill Establishes Procedures For Constitution Convention

Washington (UPI) — Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced Friday that a Senate judiciary subcommittee has approved legislation to establish procedures for a constitutional convention.

The bill would restrict the convention to the subject named by the states in their applications for a convention to amend the Constitution.

Ervin said 33 of the required 34 states have submitted petitions for a convention on legislative reapportionment.

Wants No Delay
"This legislation should be enacted into law without delay," Ervin said, "and without doubt before a 34th petition is received."

"The issues are too complex and too important for the country to be answered in the midst of a bruising battle on reapportionment."

Critics of the procedure permitting the states to initiate action for a constitutional amendment fear that the result might be a runaway convention asserting the right to rewrite the Constitution from beginning to end.

All amendments to the constitution have been proposed by Congress after approval by the necessary two-thirds vote of the House and Senate. However, the Constitution also says that Congress "shall call" a convention to amend the document at the request of two-thirds (now 34) of the state legislatures.

None Ever Called
No convention ever has been called at the request of the legislatures. In a single case, when two-thirds of the legislatures did ask for an amendment to require popular election of U.S. senators, previously elected by the legislatures, Congress itself submitted an amendment to the states.

Whether proposed by Congress or a convention, an amendment would become effective only when ratified

Light Snow, Rain Falls; Record Lows Reported

Part of western Nebraska reported light snow and rain Friday afternoon, and earlier in the day low temperatures in several towns around the state broke previous records for the date.

Light snow and drizzle fell in Scottsbluff and Alliance for a brief time in the afternoon, but temperatures, though low, were still warm enough to melt it as it hit the ground.

Temperatures in the western part of the state were in the 30s part of the day. The apparent state low for the day was 32 in Chadron Friday morning.

Temperatures fell suddenly in the area as a cold surge of air moved over extreme western Nebraska on the heels of northerly winds.

In Sidney the temperature

by three-fourths (now 38) of the states, through the legislatures or special conventions.

The Ervin bill would make state petitions for a constitutional convention valid for only four years. If called, each state would elect delegates equal in number to its congressional delegation — one delegate for each member of the House and Senate, a total of 553.

dropped from 53 to 44 in less than an hour.

In Lincoln, the early Friday morning low of 43 degrees broke the record low for the date of 46 degrees set in 1906.

A low of 44 in Omaha broke the record low of 48 degrees set in 1942 and was the lowest on record for so late in the season.

In Norfolk, a low of 40 degrees broke the old record of 41 set in 1929.

Grand Island's low of 43 degrees equaled the record low for the date set in 1929.

Light rain fell in much of the state Friday night and was expected to continue Saturday in east and central portions of Nebraska.

Temperatures Saturday will continue cool in that area, but temperatures in the Panhandle will be a little warmer than Friday. Both areas will have highs in the 50s and 60s.

16,000 TO COME HOME

9th Infantry In Firefight

... 3 Americans Killed

Saigon (P) — Soldiers of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, some of whom will be the first troops to leave South Vietnam, fought a sharp battle Friday with an enemy force in the Mekong Delta 45 miles southeast of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters said Navy armored troop carriers were landing the infantrymen near the delta town of Ben Tre when they came under heavy fire. The soldiers and sailors fought back and the enemy withdrew. Headquarters said three Americans were killed and 21 wounded. Enemy losses were unknown.

Other elements of the 9th Division in defensive positions a few miles farther south came under enemy fire Friday night.

Two Brigades To Leave

Only a few hours earlier the U.S. Command had announced that two brigades of the 9th Division—about 9,000 men—and a 7,000-man Marine regimental landing team would be the first of 25,000 American troops scheduled to be pulled out of Vietnam by the end of August.

The Marines have been fighting in the north. The 9th Division has three brigades operating in the Mekong Delta.

The departure of the men starts with an airlift before mid-July of a 900-man battalion of the 9th Infantry Division which has been fighting in the delta since 1967, the U.S. Command said Friday.

The remainder of the 16,000 men now designated for withdrawal will be pulled out by the end of August.

2 Of 3 Brigades

In all, two of the 9th Division's three brigades will withdraw from the delta south of Saigon, apparently leaving most of the fighting chores to the South Vietnamese. Each of the U.S. brigades has about 4,500 men.

The announcement broadcast to the troops in Vietnam by Armed Forces Radio sent whoops of joy through the camps of the 9th Division. It came at 11 p.m., Saigon time, and men who had been asleep were awakened by their buddies.

But there was consternation among the Marines on their battle posts far to the north, for it wasn't clear which outfit would be leaving.

Landing Team

According to the information reaching Saigon from Pacific Command headquarters in Hawaii and from Washington, a regimental landing team of the 34d Marine Division will depart. But the only Leatherneck landing team now in Vietnam is the 26th Regiment assigned to the 1st Marine Division.

Asked why mobilized National Guard and Reserve units are being left in Vietnam while regulars are coming home, a Pentagon spokesman said the Honolulu task force planning the withdrawal "is carefully considering the matter of Reserve and National Guard personnel."

12,000 In War Zone

This indicated that the 25,000 may yet include some of the 12,000 Guardsmen and Reservists now serving in the war zone.

The uncertainty among the Marines was contrasted in the southern delta perhaps by overconfidence in some of the men in the 9th Division.

"The people are jumping around here like crazy," an officer reported. "Everybody is figuring how to get on the first plane out and they all figure they will make it."

"Some of the guys are already packing their bags."

Ships To Be Turned Over

The announcement of the withdrawals coincided with informed reports in Saigon that in two weeks the United States will turn over 64 attack and patrol vessels to the South Vietnamese navy.

These vessels, worth $18 million, are assigned to the rivers and canals of the Mekong Delta.

The turnover was planned a year ago and has no connection with the withdrawal of the 25,000 troops by the end of August, informants said.

The 800 U.S. Navy men who now man or support the vessels either will be assigned training duties or be returned to the United States if their year of duty is up.

NEIGHBORHOOD PROTESTS TRAFFIC

A 15-foot-long cinder-block wall is erected Friday on West 26th Street in Manhattan in New York City as a protest against vehicular traffic in a one-block area. Parents and teachers have demanded the closing of the street near a school since a child was killed by a taxicab in the area Wednesday. The wall was taken down later after officials promised that the block would be closed off for the use of the school children before and after school and at lunchtime.

Judge Denies Move To Vacate Condemned Slayer's Sentence

A motion to vacate the death sentence of condemned slayer Thomas Alvarez was overruled and dismissed Friday by Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles.

Alvarez, who pleaded guilty to the 1966 rape and strangulation-slaying of Mrs. Mary O'Shea of Lincoln, was sentenced to die by Judge Boyles and execution is scheduled for Oct. 6.

Judge Boyles held that the defendant had entered his guilty plea freely and voluntarily and that he was not denied his constitutional rights as alleged in the defendant's petition for relief under post-conviction proceedings.

Sought Change

Alvarez had sought vacation of his guilty plea or full vacation of the death sentence and imposition of a life sentence.

The court rules that Alvarez "freely, voluntarily, knowingly and intelligently" entered the plea of guilty to first-degree murder and that the plea was "free from any improper pressures and inducements."

Judge Boyles declared that the defendant was not denied his right to impartial jury and that he was represented by competent and experienced counsel.

The judge further stated that the sentence was "reasonable and based on exercise of proper judicial discretion" and that it was not "infliction of cruel and unusual punishment" under the constitutions of the state or federal governments.

In response to a defense counsel contention that defense was not given an opportunity to see a pre-sentence investigation report furnished the court prior to sentencing, Judge Boyles said:

"The defendant was not denied the opportunity to be informed of the content of the pre-sentence report and to comment on them or rebut them. The evidence shows that the defendant's attorney, in fact, supplied certain material to be included in the report."

Defense attorney T. Clement Gaughan said that the next step would be an appeal of the post-conviction proceedings to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Soviet Union Believed Preparing Security Alliance Against China

New York Times Service

Moscow — The Soviet Union is believed preparing to propose to Asian countries the establishment of a collective security system along Communist China's periphery.

Western and Asian diplomats said Friday they expect the Soviet government to raise with Asian countries the proposal made for the first time in the speech of Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev to world Communist leaders here last Saturday.

Brezhnev said the Soviet Union believed that the course of events demanded the Soviets put "on the agenda the task of creating a system of collective security in Asia."

Explanation Sought

Since then, diplomats, particularly from Asian countries, have been trying to get clarification from foreign ministry officials on what Brezhnev had in mind.

Their curiosity was piqued even more by reports this week from their home capitals that Soviet ambassadors in many Asian countries had been recalled to Moscow for consultation.

Most diplomats here believe the return of high-ranking Soviet diplomats — including Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin from Washington — may also be related to an anticipated Central Committee plenum after the close of the world Communist meeting next week.

Time Maybe Right

Diplomats believe Moscow regards the present time as favorable for a major effort to gain additional influence in Asia while at the same time blocking possible Chinese efforts to gain prestige in the area.

It is unclear what kind of collective security arrangements the Russians have in mind, or with what countries.

The only collective arrangement in which Moscow now takes part is the Warsaw Pact, an alliance of Russia and Eastern European satellite nations. It does have bilateral mutual aid treaties with Mongolia and North Korea and once had one with China.

STOCK RUNNING LOW AS STRIKE CONTINUES . . .

Beer Drinkers In For Dry Summer?

Lincoln beer drinkers may be in for a hot, dry summer as major breweries continue to be shut down by worker strikes.

L. M. Kalin, a local Budweiser distributor, said supplies of tap beer have been exhausted. He has been rationing his remaining stock among retailers for two or three weeks, he said.

But the cans, he added, are going fast. "We're gonna go on vacation and get outta town when we go dry," Kalin laughed.

Ran Out

"We ran out of Bud on tap last night at 10 p.m.," said a spokesman for Myron's, "and the crowd made a mass exit out the door."

Distributors of other brands haven't yet run dry, and most reported an on-hand supply which will allow their patrons to tank up for three or four more weeks.

Production Stopped

But the fact that production of eight popular brands has been stopped and stockpiles are fast decreasing may lead them to more sober reflections.

Strikes against the major breweries in Milwaukee and against the world's largest single brewer, Anheuser-Busch of St. Louis, showed no signs of ending Friday, with the hottest summer months approaching.

Workers at the Anheuser-Busch plant in St. Louis, which makes Budweiser, Michelob and Busch-Bavarian, have been off work for about two weeks.

Breweries Struck

Union members in Milwaukee struck the city's four major breweries Monday, after voting overwhelmingly Sunday night to reject the latest contract offer. The strike halted production for the first time since a 76-day walkout in 1953.

The struck plants are the Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co.; Pabst Brewing Co., which also makes Blatz; the Miller Brewing Co.; and Miller's Gittleman Division.

The strike by members of United Brewery Workers Local 9, AFL-CIO, does not affect the breweries' other plants across the country.

The dispute has idled nearly 15,000 workers, and has cost millions of dollars in profits and wages.

Battle Forming Over Priorities

New York Times Service

By JOHN W. FINNEY

Washington — In a manner that neither side quite anticipated, the latest struggle between a Republican administration and a Democratic Congress is boiling up into a "battle of national priorities."

For the first time since he took office nearly five months ago, President Nixon is running into political hostility on Capitol Hill that spells serious difficulty for his legislative program.

The opposition is coming from Democratic liberals and moderates who up until now had been inclined to cooperate with a Republican administration.

They'll Do Battle

In the past several days the once amicable, if not cordial, relationship has changed perceptibly, largely because Democratic liberals, with considerable support from their moderate Democratic and Republican colleagues, have decided to do battle with the administration. The battle lines they have drawn are on national priorities.

Because of liberal opposition in the House, the administration's tax bill and foreign aid program are in unexpectedly serious trouble. But the opposition to the bills is symptomatic of the larger battle over national priorities.

Under other circumstances, the liberals would have supported the two bills. But now they are raising trouble as a protest against what they regard as the administration's apparent lack of recognition of the need to reorient national priorities to give greater attention to the domestic front.

Brewing Since January

In retrospect, it is apparent that the battle had been brewing ever since Nixon took office. But until now the confrontation had been averted by sympathy for the budgetary problems confronted by the President and a feeling, reinforced by the middle-of-the-road stance assumed by the President, that once the Vietnam war was settled, the administration would turn to domestic needs.

What brought the battle to a head was the President's headline speech last week at the Air Force Academy with its emphasis upon military preparedness and its innuendoes of criticism against administration critics.

Liberals, whose support was necessary for extension of the 10% income surtax or for passage of the foreign aid program, resented the implication that they were neo-isolationists or unilateral disarmers because they opposed such programs as the administration's Safeguard missile defense system.

But what really upset them was what they regarded as the underlying premise in the President's speech that the time had not come to reorient national priorities between domestic and military needs. At that point the partisan battlelines perceptibly hardened.

Stevenson: Evans Made Wrong Turn

New York Times Service

Subic Bay, Philippines — The U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans turned "savagely" into the bow of the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne at a moment it could have avoided its fatal collision, the commander of the Australian ship testified Friday.

Capt. John P. Stevenson, the first authoritative witness to give a public account of the collision that claimed the lives of 74 Evans sailors early on the morning of June 3, said he had turned the Melbourne to port (to the left) just before the collision. The maneuver, he said, would have enabled his ship to pass safely astern of the Evans.

At the same time, he said, the Evans made "a very sharp turn to the starboard (right)," he said. The turn carried the American ship into the bigger ship's course.

The Melbourne then rammed the Evans, shearing the American destroyer in two.

Neighbor Has Right To Peace

Bolzano, Italy (AP) — Ursule Unterweger, an attractive 39-year-old widow, got a suspended 10-day jail sentence for treading on a downstairs neighbor's right to domestic tranquility. The neighbor testified that she stomped around in high heels at all hours. Slippers or jail, said the judge.

U.S. Steel Won't Fight Federal Antitrust Suit

Pittsburgh (AP) — The Justice Department filed a civil antitrust suit Friday in U.S. District Court against U.S. Steel Corp., charging it with an attempt to monopolize sales of steel and steel products by utilizing reciprocal purchase agreements.

Concurrently, a proposed consent judgement was filed that would prohibit U.S. Steel from engaging in any reciprocal arrangements for 10 years.

Almost immediately, U.S. Steel, while not admitting to any violation of the law, said it would not contest the charges in court and would accept the judgment.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who announced the action in Washington, said the government's complaint accused U.S. Steel of entering into agreements with various suppliers to restrain trade by reciprocating purchases in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

White Citizens Outfit Favors Racism, Wallace

New York Times Service

By HOMER BIGART

Jackson, Miss. — The national headquarters of the Citizens Councils of America, a segregationist outfit dedicated to the proposition that apartheid will resolve the race problems in the United States and that George C. Wallace can take care of everything else, is housed in a chaste, concrete one-story elevated building supported by cantilevered columns a block or two from the state capitol.

The administrator, William J. Simmons, is a courtly, soft-spoken man.

Says Movement Grows

Simmons told a visitor that his movement was expanding as a result of backlash generated by campus riots and better grassroots organizational work.

There are now 90,000 active, paid-up ($2 a month) "hardcore" members, Simmons reported. "They are primed, cocked and ready to go," he said.

For what?

"We're trying," he replied, "to organize white people who don't believe in integration. The greatest part of our effort and energy is going into the encouraging of public schools."

Runs 150 Schools

Simmons said the councils were running more than 150 private schools, all of them all white, with a total of more than 9,000 pupils.

Louisiana leads with 60 or 70 schools, Simmons said, and Mississippi is second with 54.

There are about 24 in South Carolina, where the council-sponsored school system is called the Independent School Association, he added, and a considerable number in southern Virginia.

Helped By State

For years, the private school system was aided by tuition grants paid by several Southern states to enable white children to avoid attending desegregated public schools. But this scheme has been struck down by the federal courts.

In political action, the council helped defeat four black mayoral candidates who ran against whites in four small Mississippi towns in the June 3 general election, Simmons said.

The council conducted continuous voter registration campaigns among whites in heavily black counties and spurred a white voter turnout on election day, he explained.

Here in Jackson, a telephone "whispering campaign," allegedly masterminded by council members, was viewed as the cause of the defeat of Richard G. Barnes, the controller who was running for city commissioner. Barnes was portrayed — falsely, he said — as a liberal on race issues.

In the 1968 election, Simmons helped direct George C. Wallace's presidential campaign in this state. Wallace swept Mississippi, getting 65% of the vote.

Today the Wallace organization is "just as intact as it was in the campaign," Simmons said.

Biologist Proposed To Head National Science Foundation

New York Times Service

Washington — William D. McElroy, chairman of the biology department at Johns Hopkins University, has been proposed by the White House as the new director of the National Science Foundation.

While no final decision has been made on filling one of the key scientific posts in the government, the White House has been "clearing" McElroy's name on Capitol Hill, a political formality normally preceding a presidential appointment.

The White House, meanwhile, announced that President Nixon would nominate Gen. John D. Ryan as Air Force chief of staff, succeeding Gen. John P. McConnell, who is retiring.

Ryan, whose background has been primarily in the Strategic Air Command, has been serving as vice chief of staff since last August.

The White House also announced that Adm. Thomas H. Moorer would be reappointed to a second two-year term as chief of naval operations.

NU Names Temporary Coordinator For Blacks

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Walt Strong, Abel Hall residence director at the University of Nebraska, will serve as an interim black student coordinator, it was announced Friday.

Strong will fill the position of coordinator for special student affairs this summer, according to NU Dean of Student Affairs Dr. G. Robert Ross.

Candidates for a full-time black student coordinator and a black student counselor are being interviewed, but the administration and black students involved in the selection have not yet agreed on persons to recommend for the positions.

To Be Liaison

Strong also will serve as the liaison between NU officials and the Afro-American Collegiate Society for the rest of the summer, unless further meetings are requested by either side, Ross explained.

In recent sessions reviewing progress of the university in implementing programs for black students, it was reported that a course in black psychology will definitely be added next year and two more courses related to black history and culture are being developed.

In addition to a graduate seminar in modern art exclusively about black art and a course on the history of modern Africa, "Black-White Behavior: A Psychological Perspective" will be offered next year for the first time, according to Dean of Faculties Dr. C. Peter Magrath.

The course on "The Negro In American Society" will be continued next year, Magrath confirmed.

Lincoln Air Park Pool Slated To Open Today

The swimming pool at Lincoln Air Park West will open Saturday providing the air temperature is at least 75 degrees.

Mrs. Maureen Shawver, who spearheaded the effort to get the pool opened for residents of the old Lincoln Air Force Base housing area, said Friday that work on the pool has been completed.

Mrs. Shawver said the pool would have opened Friday had the weather been warmer.

She said that the pool was filled with water by the fire department.

"The water was too cold Friday. But several kids did sneak in for a quick dip," she said.

Area residents had formed work crews during the past week to fix up the pool, which had been closed since the Job Corps moved out of Lincoln.

Mrs. Shawver said that a grand opening celebration will be held next Wednesday.

The pool is open to those families who have purchased memberships in an organization formed to underwrite the city's costs in obtaining and operating the pool.

Swimming hours will be from 12:30 to 8:30 p.m. seven days a week, with swimming lessons available from 9:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Swimming pools in the city are closed when the air temperature dips below 75 degrees, according to the City Park and Recreation Department.

City swimming pools were closed Thursday and Friday due to the cool weather.

Chapel At Lincoln Air Park Considered As Theater Site

The Lincoln Community Playhouse is considering the chapel at Lincoln Air Park West as a possible site for a new playhouse.

Vaughn Border, president of the theater group, confirmed Friday that the site is under consideration.

Border said the board of directors is also considering remodeling the present playhouse at 18th and L, and moving to a yet undetermined site as alternatives to the chapel location.

He said a written proposal has been submitted to the Lincoln Airport Authority following an exploratory meeting held earlier between members of the theater group and authority officials.

Border said the board of directors is expected to take action on the three possibilities at its meeting July 8.

Rolland Harr, executive director of the Airport Authority, said the chapel could accommodate 300 people.

Civil Aeronautics Board Grants Hearing On Lincoln's Air Service

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) has formally ordered a hearing regarding Lincoln's request for improved air service.

Cong. Robert Denney and Sens. Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis announced Friday that the CAB has granted the petition of Lincoln for the hearing.

The congressional delegation said the hearing will concern air routes to Chicago, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and St. Louis, but not on the Lincoln-Seattle-Portland proposal requested by Lincoln.

The board noted that Lincoln, in various pleadings before the CAB concerning service to Omaha and Des Moines, stressed its need and pressed for a hearing on Chicago, St. Louis and the Twin Cities, but did not press for consideration of the Seattle-Portland proposal.

Chauncey Barney, attorney for the Lincoln Airport Authority said Friday no date had been set for the hearing.

The attorney explained that while the hearing examiner is considering Lincoln's petition, airlines may file service proposals involving Lincoln and the three destinations.

Rolland Harr, executive director of the airport authority, said the decision represents "the first opportunity for Lincoln to upgrade its airline service since the seven states area case back in the 50's."

Alfred Hart Dies; Was State Special Education Consultant

Alfred A. Hart of 8217 So. Cherrywood Drive, special education consultant for the State Education Department, died Friday at the age of 42.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Piedmont Park Seventh-Day Adventist Church at 4801 A.

A graduate of the College View Academy in Lincoln, Mr. Hart received his bachelor's degree from Kearney Teachers College in 1954.

While he was working for his degree, he was a counselor at the Boys' Training School in Kearney from 1951 to 1955.

For seven years, he worked for Prudential Insurance Co., mostly in Rapid City, S.D., and in Sidney.

Formerly of Ogallala, Mr. Hart was a counselor at the Ogallala office of the Nebraska State Services for the Visually Impaired.

He joined the staff of the State Department of Education in 1963.

This spring Mr. Hart received his master's degree from the University of Nebraska.

He was a member of the Piedmont Park Seventh-Day Adventist Church, American Legion Post No. 3, the American Association of Instructors for the Blind and had been chairman of the Lancaster County Chapter of the Nebraska Society for Cropped Children and Adults since 1966.

Mr. Hart served as a medical corpsman with the U.S. Navy from 1944 to 1946.

Survivors include his wife, Iris; sons, Tim and Alan, both at home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. Hart of Lincoln; brothers, Roland E. of Hastings and Sidney G. of Grand Junction, Colo., and sister, Mrs. Gilbert Jorgensen of Sioux Falls, S.D.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Several items in the newspaper should have caught the attention of readers this week. One was a column by Marquis Childs, on the editorial page, about the demise of the Job Corps.

In moving terms, Childs explained how the elimination of the Job Corps training centers will be a final defeat for thousands of down and out young people. He cited cases of Job Corps enrollees who had made a substantial success of their lives when they would probably had otherwise been a substantial failure.

He did not point out the failure; others have been quite effective at doing that. It is the failures of the Job Corps that have caused the program to be largely junked by the Nixon administration.

The unfortunate part about this is that people would look at failure rather than success to judge the merits of a program. If this is a consistent standard of measure, there is nothing we can do for the deprived and underprivileged masses of humanity.

Anyone who expects such a program to function with perfection is looking for something that can never be. It was President Nixon himself who said, in an early message to Congress, that our mistakes should be the process by which we learn.

He was saying that we should expect to make mistakes but that this should not stop us. He failed, however, to apply that very wise policy to the Job Corps.

If the same measure of performance as was applied against the Job Corps is now applied to the new training program through business and industry, it too will fail and will have to be replaced by something else.

The other item to which we have referred was a news story about low income housing. What the story did was dispel the idea that we have no poverty problems in Lincoln. Also, it made dramatically clear the extent of that poverty.

A survey being done in connection with a new low income housing project is reported to have identified some 790 low income families who are eligible for the program. The figure is neither a total nor necessarily a representative one.

It is simply a count of the many low income families. And what are we talking about when we mention low income?

In the eyes of the federal government, a family of four is at the poverty level with an income of $3,500 a year. Such a family, incidentally, would pay $78 income tax under existing revenue statutes but would be exempt under a provision contained in the proposed extension of the surtax.

The low income classification, for local subsidized rental programs, starts at $1,200 a year, at which point the rent for an individual is $25 a month. For every $48 of additional income, the rent goes up $1 a month.

Now maybe you are hard-nosed enough to say that nobody pays your rent so why should anybody have their rent paid, in whole or part. The low rental figures still are 25 percent of income and that is a healthy rent, as anyone knows who tries to get by on such a standard.

Paying 25 percent of your income for housing, you had better be pretty frugal elsewhere. But what about dollars, despite percentages?

With $25 a month rent, the $1,200-a-year individual has $900 a year on which to subsist. That hardly needs any further comment. It is enough to say that we have an awfully long way to go to meet the human injustices that exist in our midst.

Former Sportswriter Remembers Evans

NEW YORK — I recently sent Merv Griffin, who is a Boston Red Sox fan from "way back, a relatively rare autographed ball. It was signed by the players on the 1946 Sox team, who won the American League pennant.

"Thanks," Merv writes. "I promise to take good care of it. The only shock was when I showed it to my son, Tony. When I pointed out Ted Williams' signature, he said, 'Oh, yeah. The Senators' manager!' He wondered why Williams had signed the Red Sox ball.

"I guess there is a gap!"

What a sadness there was in that AP interview with Norman Rockwell, the dean of American illustrators.

His work, he said, is no longer in great demand.

"I don't really mind," said the 75-year-old artist. "Red-cheeked little boys and mongrel dogs no longer typify America. Today, paintings about the racial question are in demand. There are no easy answers to these complex questions."

That could make a good campaign slogan for an ambitious politician. "... and, folks, if you give me your vote, I will personally bring back red-cheeked little boys and mongrel dogs."

I'd vote for him.

★ ★ ★ Alex MacLean, former Boston sportswriter who is now an account executive, had special reason to mourn the loss of the destroyer Frank E. Evans.

"Felt as if I lost an old friend when the Evans was knifed. The Evans picked me out of the Pacific when I was shot down in WWII. I was the first of many pilots it rescued.

"Some time later, during the invasion of Okinawa, we fought together and the Evans distinguished itself by shooting down 19 Japanese planes in one day."

★ ★ ★ Rafael Osuna, the great Mexican Davis Cup player who was among the 79 killed in that plane crash last week, was fresh from leading his team to a stunning victory over Australia. Beyond lay the heady possibility of a victory over the U.S. — and capture of the fabled Cup.

The awesome finality of death in a plane crash at the crest of a man's career will help preserve Osuna's stature as a national hero. It was thus in the cases of Will Rogers, Knute Rockne and Marvel Cerdan.

If that is any comfort ... Dist. by King Features Synd.

Not Far Enough

The U.S. Judicial Conference — called into session after the Fortas affair became public by retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren to draft standards for serving with the federal judiciary—did a commendable and expeditious job in cracking down on the side jobs of federal judges.

The only problem is, the extracurricular activities of Supreme Court justices were left unexamined; no policy toward restoring the public's confidence in the high court was made. And that was the real and first reason the conference was called.

For the federal judiciary below the Supreme Court level, the conference drafted stiffer guidelines for off-bench activities. Granted, it decided to allow judges to continue to accept expense money and to take pay for services "in the public interest" if it is approved by fellow judges, but it generally forbade them to take payment for work not directly associated with judicial duties.

Further, the conference adopted resolutions requiring all federal judges except Supreme Court justices to file annual statements with the conference on their income, assets and liabilities and directing an administration committee to draft possible legislation to help the conference enforce its rules.

But what of Supreme Court justices? The conference, expected to rein in the high court justices, wound up by saying it had no authority to do so. So, still there is no real moral persuasion or sanction save their own to guide the justices in off-bench activities and to help heighten a diminished respect.

Father's Day Special

Actually, a feminine hand probably should be writing this piece but none is available at the moment so this father will do his best to say something about the day tomorrow which is set aside in his honor. He is a little embarrassed about it, actually, because he feels he is honored plenty throughout the year.

And what kind of honor is it? No father worth his salt is looking for personal praise or thanks. His pleasure is found, appropriately, in the success and happiness of others.

Now whatever booty may come his way on Sunday is fine and dandy. If there is no booty but just a round of well wishes from the family, that is fine, too.

In either event, what Dad looks for on Sunday is some indication that he has done alright by those who depend upon him. Not just financially, although that is important, but alright in terms of living a happy life.

He revels in the enthusiasm of his teenagers, the simplicity of his pre-teens and the pride of his wife. Now and then they may think he is a little hardheaded, old-fashioned or misunderstanding, but he hopes they look at the total objective and how often or seldom it has been achieved.

The unity of the family and its contentment are two important measures of how well Dad has done his job. If he sees on Sunday a wife and children who figure life has not treated them too badly and who think that giving to the world is as important as taking from it, then this is all he needs. If he finds the lawn mowed, the car washed and a new pair of slippers in the closet, that is just an extra bonus.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Hasty Legislation To Repress Campus Unrest Will Alienate Moderates, Encourage Fanatics

WASHINGTON — The conspiracy theory to explain away the turbulence on the campuses is like a feather bed. You fall back into its comfortable embrace with no need for the painful process of thought. That is what certain congressional committees are about to do in spite of warnings in sober commission reports that this will serve the cause of the extremists by alienating the moderates.

From sources with the surest reason to know, it can be stated that the theory of a Communist conspiracy supported from abroad is simply untrue. If any money has come from Peking or Moscow to finance the extremist wing of Students for a Democratic Society the total is so small as to be negligible.

A few students — a better designation would be activists — have managed to get to Cuba. They have had some training there in guerrilla tactics and, further, and probably superfluous, indoctrination in Maoist ideology — superfluous since they are proficient in parroting the imperialist, aggressor, capitalist invective. The effect of this on the total scene is also negligible.

In short, the phenomenon of campus unrest is so pervasive and so deep-seated that the conspiracy theory is wholly irrelevant. Recognition of this fact in many universities and colleges is bringing acknowledgment of the need for authority to meet the student challenge and share in the decision-making process particularly where discipline and punishment are involved. Opposition to the Vietnam war on almost every campus in the country cannot be ignored.

★ ★ ★ At Yale an overwhelming majority of the senior class signed a petition asking that the commencement be dedicated to expression of opposition to Vietnam. Kingman Brewster, one of the most far-seeing university heads, agreed to break with precedent and invite a speaker selected by the seniors. Class Secretary William McIlwaine Thompson delivered a short but stirring address.

"Today as we leave Yale," he said, "a sense of frustration and despair overwhelms us. On some campuses this frustration has erupted into a violence which has shocked the American public. And yet the same public condones violence abroad in senseless military action killing thousands of Americans and Vietnamese."

One handicap in the series of student explosions across the country has been the lack of any substantial advance intelligence that could have defused the time bomb. To what extent have the extremists coordinated their attacks? How nearly are they motivated by the same ideology, whether Maoist, anarchist or whatever? So many pieces of the student puzzle are missing that simply to push them together into a conspiracy pattern is a wishful delusion.

Here the role of the FBI is in question. While this is heresy, since J. Edgar Hoover's institution is a sacred cow of sacred cows,

VIRGINIA PAYETTE

Fear Rules In Sex Education

Better brush up on your "birds 'n' bees," Mom and Dad, and polish up your Freud. Because it looks as if maybe the schools are going out of the sex education business.

You can still play it cool with Santa Claus and the tooth fairy, but from now on it may be up to you to tell your children what it is the Easter bunny does those other 364 days of the year.

If you're chicken, you could probably avoid the blushing man-to-man bit by sending them down to the local movie house. They'd learn it all there — in living, panting Technicolor with stereophonic sound.

★ ★ ★ But the voice of the turtle is being heard throughout the land and for "turtle" read "parents," who are croaking over what their we ones are learning about life and love at teacher's knee.

After years of quiet acceptance, the idea of sex education for youngsters has suddenly alarmed a substantial number of parents. They claim there's too much "show and tell" involved.

Different schools have different programs, but, basically, the moppets in kindergarten through fifth grade have been finding out the stork really isn't in the delivery business, while those from sixth through the ninth grade get filled in on puberty and boy-girl stuff.

From junior high on, the emphasis is on the psychological and moral aspects of sex.

★ ★ ★ Teachers, doctors, clergymen, social workers and psychiatrists were all for it. They still are. But many parents are having second thoughts. And the John Birch Society is in the act with a door-to-door campaign to "rid our schools of this filthy Communist plot."

Meetings are being held ... funds are being raised ... children are being taken out of schools ... and New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller just signed a law cutting off state money for courses in you-know-what.

Some parents feel that teaching the facts of life to young children borders on pornography for the sand-box set. One California housewife accused her high school of teaching variations on romance you'll never find in "What Every Young Girl Should Know," and wants to "rid society of all this filth — not teach our children what it is."

A father in Michigan charges his child is learning about sex through "visual aids" showing animals and people in barnyards and bed, respectively, and he finds it "shocking and appalling."

The revolt comes as a blow to educators, who have spent years explaining the program to parents.

★ ★ ★ Dr. Louise Bates Ames, of the Gesell Institute of Child Development, feels the schools — with all their models, slides and films — can do a better job than most parents, who tend to embarrass easily.

"It's usually the prissy parent who's not doing a good job of imparting sex information who objects most," she says.

Actually the idea behind starting sex education so early, educators explain, was that it's easier to teach children where babies come from before they're old enough to be emotionally involved. Also, they hoped to give them a comprehensive view of how sex affects personality, families and society.

Frightened parents may buy that theory, but they're afraid it's turning into a case of "too much — much too soon."

Educators were hoping it might be just in time — to cut down the soaring teenage rate of illegitimate births, venereal disease and divorce.

GRANVILLE T. WOODS

They Had A Dream

In the last quarter of the 19th Century, the world crossed the threshold of a new age — the age of electricity.

Alexander Graham Bell, who invented the telephone in 1876, and Thomas Alva Edison, who invented the electric light in 1879, were considered the guiding geniuses in this era of wizardry.

But others played important roles. One of them was Granville T. Woods. Woods patented his first invention five years after the invention of the electric light.

During the next 25 years, he produced a steady stream of electrical and mechanical devices, ranging from electrical relay switches to automatic air brakes for trains.

Several of them were key inventions, making possible broader and more efficient uses of electricity.

Edison himself claimed the rights to two of Woods' inventions, but Woods took the disputes to court and proved he developed them first. Then promptly Edison offered him a job. Woods turned him down.

★ ★ ★ Born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1856, Woods gained his skills through practical experience and not out of books. He quit school at the age of 10 to take his first job in a machine shop.

At 16 he worked as a fireman on a Missouri railroad, then in a Springfield rolling mill and in 1878 as an engineer on a British steamer, the Ironsides.

In 1880 he was working as an engineer on the Danville and Southern Railroad and was fascinated by two sources of energy: steam and electricity.

His first invention, patented in 1884, no doubt stemmed from his experience as an engineer. It was for a furnace and boiler to produce steam heat.

That same year he invented a telephone transmitter and sold it to the Bell Telephone Co.

Next came an incubator, an electrical relay switch, an electromagnetic brake for trains, a galvanic battery and a safety cutout switch to avoid overloading electrical circuits.

★ ★ ★ Soon Woods held so many patents that he established the Woods Electric Co. in Cincinnati to market them.

But this took time from his inventive endeavors so he closed down the firm and moved to New York.

In 1887 Woods again invented a device inspired by his years on the railroad. It was a telegraph system for communication between moving trains which he hoped would reduce the chance of accidents.

One of Woods' most important inventions was a regulator which greatly increased the efficiency of electric motors.

He was granted 15 patents for electric railway systems, and for a three-rail railway with no overhead wires, and three patents on an automatic airbrake for trains.

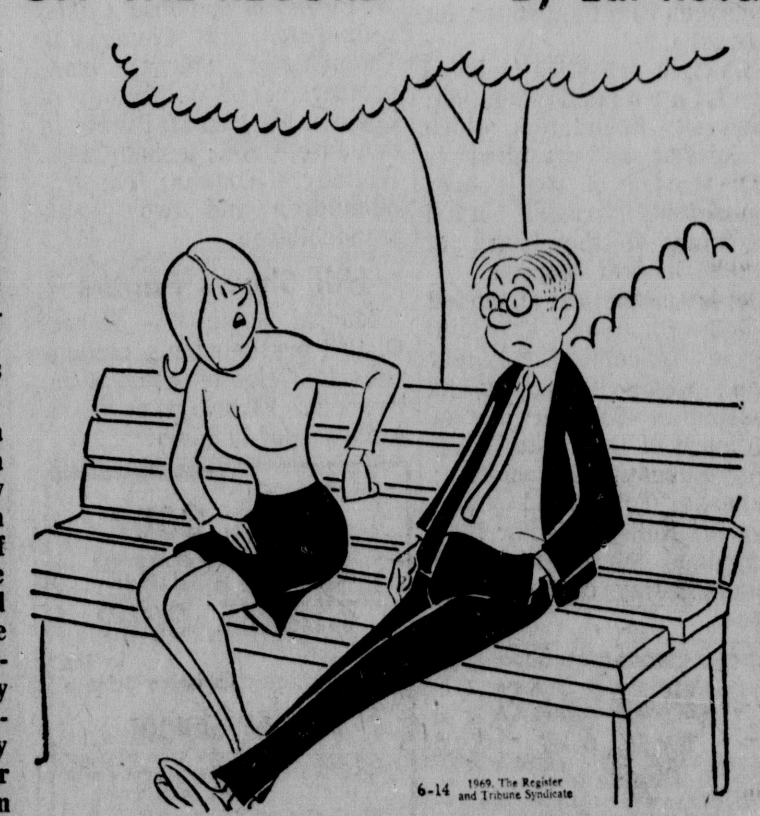

Woods sold most of his patents to major American firms, such as General Electric, Westinghouse and the Bell Telephone Co.

When he died in New York City in 1910, more than 150 patents had been awarded in his name.

Tiemann: Proposed Budget Would Cripple UNO

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Friday said the Budget Committee's appropriations recommendations would "cripple" the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

The Department of Public Welfare may be short of funds to finance its programs of Medicaid and aid-to-dependent-children if committee recommendations are accepted, Tiemann warned.

And the legislative budget proposals would ruin executive budget control operations in the Department of Administrative Services and destroy the effectiveness of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the governor declared.

Second Letter

In a second budget letter to the members of the Legislature, Tiemann asked for restoration of funds which he had recommended for five state agencies. His first letter covered four other agencies and three "problem" areas.

Tiemann told newsmen earlier in the day that he is willing to accept responsibility for financing the operations of state government under his budget recommendations if the Legislature so wishes.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff has offered a motion to accept Tiemann's budget in lieu of the operational appropriations proposal presented by the Budget Committee.

"I'm willing to take the onus," the governor said. "We can run the state on my budget."

Tax Rates

However, the governor noted, his budget was structured within the limits of a 2½% sales tax and a 10% personal income tax rate.

Revenue lost to the state since January when the sales tax rate was reduced to 2% would have to be recaptured to finance his budget, Tiemann said.

(Presumably, that would require a 3% sales tax for a corresponding number of months before the rate dropped to 2½%.)

Tiemann told newsmen the committee's $1.3 million cut in the governor's general fund recommendation for UNO would create "serious problems" in recruiting faculty members.

Teaching Load

The teaching load at UNO, which is considerably higher than the work load at the Lincoln campuses, must be reduced, the governor said.

Tiemann's second letter to lawmakers did not cover the UNO budget. At least one and perhaps two more letters will follow, the governor said.

Committee estimates of the number of welfare recipients in the Medicaid and ADC programs for the coming biennium are below the current level and substantially

State Legislature Holds Flag Day Ceremony Friday

The Legislature held a Flag Day observance Friday as lapel pins, replicas of the U.S. flag, were presented to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and members of the Legislature.

After Boys' State governor Stanley Walker of Scottsbluff led the pledge of allegiance to the flag, State Legion Commander Glenn De Weber of Pawnee City said "in this day and age, when America is at low ebb and there is so much controversy about the flag... we wish to present a lapel pin flag to each senator."

Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. then told the history of "Old Glory" and pinned a lapel flag on Gov. Tiemann.

Flag Day is Saturday.

Riot Prevention, Penalty Measure Advanced

By JAMES JOYCE
United Press International

Nebraska's Legislature gave first round approval Friday to a bill aimed at preventing riots and providing stiff penalties for persons who are involved in riots.

The bill, LB1381, is an amended version of another bill sponsored by the Unicameral's Government Committee which would have made it illegal to disrupt a campus or seize a campus building.

The amended version, which was advanced on a 31-3 vote, incorporates the provisions of the Government Committee's bill.

State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, chairman of the committee, said the amended version was drawn up by the attorney general, the state adjutant, the Douglas and Lancaster County attorneys and the warden of the State Penal Complex.

Only State Sens. Wayne Schreurs of Seward, Orval Keyes of Papillion and Elmer Wallway of Emerson voted against advancing the bill.

Opposition Explained

Wallway said afterward he voted against advancing the measure because, he said, most of its provisions are covered in present laws.

"It appears the only thing it would do is make the punishments stiffer," he said. "And I question whether it is constitutional."

Keyes and Schreurs said they were not opposed to the bill but wanted more time to study it.

Carpenter said the bill is "necessary. Psychologically, it will probably stop many things before they start."

Under the bill, nine different type of crimes and penalties relating to riot activities are outlined.

The different types of crimes and punishments would range from disorderly conduct which would be punishable by a $100 fine and 30 days in jail to five years imprisonment for assault with a dangerous weapon on emergency personnel during a riot.

Prohibited Sales

The bill would also prohibit the sale or possession of certain items, such as alcoholic beverages, guns and ammunition and gasoline, during a riot.

Another bill scheduled for its first floor vote was held over when Carpenter offered extensive amendments to it.

The bill, LB1346, sponsored by State Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln, would set up a law enforcement training center under the control of the Governor's Crime Commission.

Carpenter's amendment would place the control of the center in the hands of the State Patrol which he said would enable it to become immediately eligible for federal funding.

He said the bill, in its original form, would require at least two years for the center to become a reality.

Defeat Feared

But State Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway said he was opposed to Carpenter's amendments because they might lead to the defeat of the bill.

He said the amendments were largely taken from a similar bill defeated in the 1967 Legislature because of opposition from several law enforcement agencies, particularly the county sheriffs.

"This bill is a compromise," he said. "We need this center and I don't want to risk having this bill killed."

But Carpenter said he believed the senators who voted against the 1967 bill would vote for the one with his amendments "because many things have happened in the last two years that have pointed out the need for this."

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

New Careers Add Zip To Retirement Years

By ROBERT PETERSON

Some pessimistic souls feel that at 40 or 50 they're too old to change careers. But with a little scouting around one finds numerous examples of alert sexagenarians and septuagenarians launching new careers that add zip to retirement years.

"I'd like to tell you about my father," writes Mrs. Mary Taylor of Allen Park, Mich. "He came to this country at age 13 from Greece and began as water boy on the railroad and ended as foreman. Then he ran a popular restaurant for 30 years and retired at the age of 62."

"But he didn't like retirement so at 65 he bought and ran a motel until he approached three score and 10 when he tried retiring again."

"He enjoyed his leisure a few years but then last year grew restless and surprised us by taking out a franchise to operate a gift exchange business. His busy, gleaming little shop takes new and undamaged gifts that people wish to exchange and allows people to take items of equal value from the shelves. I think it's an ingenious idea for a shop, and the customers love it."

"Dad charges a 20% service charge for handling transactions. The shop is loaded with unique, attractive items such as a 24-karat gold horse clock, strawberry cups with leaf saucers, a big flowered piggy bank, and a wall clock that looks like a wristwatch."

Sen. Adamson Makes Farewell Speech

By United Press International

State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine was given a standing ovation by his legislative colleagues Friday as he made his farewell speech on his last day as a member of Nebraska's Unicameral.

Adamson, 49, a member of the Legislature since 1961 and a former speaker, stepped down Friday to take over as federal deputy assistant secretary of agriculture for marketing and consumer affairs.

Adamson, who was appointed to his new post by U.S. Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin, will be replaced in the Legislature by Don Hanna of Brownlee. Both men are Cherry County ranchers.

In a brief speech, Adamson said he wanted to "express my gratitude to my colleagues, the Legislature's employees and the pages for the fine way they have received me.

"I hate to leave the group but I hope I am going to an endeavor that will provide challenge."

Adamson also laughingly said he hoped the Legislature will pass a state meat inspection law this session. In his new post, Adamson will be in charge of administering the federal meat inspection act.

As he left the chamber, Adamson was given a standing ovation and several senators shook his hand and wished him "good luck."

Revised Anatomical Board OK'd

By Associated Press

The Legislature gave 28-9 final reading approval Friday to a bill revising membership on the State Anatomical Board and variously revising procedures and standards for disposition of human bodies.

Medical school representatives sought the legislation, reporting a shortage of bodies for study purposes.

The bill, LB862, was sponsored by Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha.

Three other non-controversial measures were

My "Pop"

... a grand guy in any language. A very special fellow at our house. Without him around night brings fright. But for him we couldn't eat as well, nor as much. He may be gruff at times; he may be firm when he disciplines. And we may answer "yessir" in agreement when he commands, but he is the very foundation of everything at our house.

It takes him to silence the doggie ... to persuade Jr. ... to laud sister's successes and to heap high praise on all the things mother does ... that's "My Pop". They possess rare qualities, these fathers. A good one is a source of joy to every child. Then on this Father's Day, let him have it right in the heart. Aim all the good things at him. Give him the treatment he so justly deserves and make him wish for another Father's Day very soon. Play with him but also pray with him. Be a worshiper with him at your church this week.

Meet Star Carrier Mark Schacher

Business is booming for Mark Schacher of Columbus. Since he took over a route for The Lincoln Star nine months ago, the number of subscribers has tripled and Mark's earnings have risen accordingly.

Mark's success can be traced to his practice of placing the paper exactly where his customers would like to find it and to being so reliable that a priest says he can set his watch by his service.

A student at Duncan Elementary School, Mark likes to spend his spare time building go-carts, playing football and swimming.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schacher, say the paper route has provided wonderful training for their son and Mark says he enjoys getting up early and meeting new people.

Young men interested in becoming carrier salesmen for The Lincoln Star should contact the State Carrier Dept., The Lincoln Star, Lincoln, Neb. 68501.

MISS LESLIE HEILIG

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heilig of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Leslie, to Steve Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clayton of Grand Island.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, Aug. 24, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First-Plymouth Congregational Church.

Miss Heilig is attending Hastings College where she is a member of Pi Alpha Lambda sorority.

Mr. Clayton also is a student at Hastings College and his fraternity is Delta Phi Sigma.

Suburbia Is On The Go

As is usually the case 'round about the middle of June, the travel routes in the United States are jammed with tourists and we're happy to report that Nebraska has had even more than its share of vacation-bound people on the nation's thoroughfares. But before we begin telling about just who has been traveling — and — where we'd like to mention an event which took place yesterday evening in Bethany Park Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. George Handa were host and hostess last night at a get-together of their bridge club. Preceding an evening of cards, the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Overturf, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mathis and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Merrill, enjoyed a patio supper.

Now for a bit about those suburban travelers.

A trip to California was on the agenda in mid-May for Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Roelle and children, Cynthia and Curtis. The Roelle family flew to the west coast for a nine-day stay during which Mrs. Roelle and the children did a bit of sightseeing, while Mr. Roelle attended a business meeting.

The Roelles also had the opportunity to visit with some members of the family — in San Bernardino, for instance, they called on Mr. Roelle's brother and sister-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. Dean Roelle; and in North Hollywood they were the guests of Mrs. Roelle's aunt, Mrs. Helen Rainforth.

The travelers barely had returned from California when Mrs. Roelle and Cynthia were once again packing this time getting ready for a trip to the east coast. Mrs. Roelle and Cynthia returned Tuesday evening from a 13-day trip to Washington, D.C., and New York with the members of Girl Scout Troop 131. Mrs. Roelle tells us that one of the highlights of their trip was staying for four nights at a national Girl Scout camp near the nation's capital.

Some very interesting news from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Merrill concerns their daughter, Corinne, who is a pre-med senior at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex. It seems that Corinne is currently enrolled in a biology course at SMU, the laboratory for which is a Texas desert. Mrs. Merrill tells us that her daughter, with nine other students and two professors, is participating in a four and a half-week field trip which has literally taken them into the "middle of nowhere" — Black Gap, Tex. We understand that the group is about 75 miles from the nearest post office and any sign of civilization, all of which makes an atmosphere very conducive to the scholar's purpose — studying the plant and animal life of the desert.

Busy making plans for a move to Colorado have been Prairie Valley residents Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Knotek and children, Brenda and Mike. Besides packing and taking care of last minute details, the Knoteks have been dinner guests at the homes of a number of Lincoln residents during the past few days. On Sunday, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, and also on hand for the get-together were Mr. Knotek's cousins, Miss Janice Long and Miss Claire Long.

The Knotek family will be moving to a new home in Aurora, Colo., this weekend.

MISS KAREN SUE JONES

Town circles will have a special interest in the announcement made this morning by Dr. and Mrs. Emerson Jones of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karen Sue, to William P. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ward of Ulysses.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, Aug. 17.

Miss Jones is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi sorority, and of Mortar Board, honor society for senior women.

Mr. Ward is a graduate of Wayne State College and last year he was a member of the Omaha public schools faculty.

Ann O'Connor Is Honoree At Courtesy

Although her marriage to David Green is not until August, Miss Ann O'Connor has been kept busy with pre-nuptial courtesies. One of the parties was the dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Craig O'Brien were host and hostess at their home on Thursday evening.

A special guest at the dinner was the bride-elect's father, Allen O'Connor of Longmeadow, Mass., who is spending a brief time in Lincoln.

TALK

Between now and departure day Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheldon Hallett who are forsaking Lincoln for Scottsdale, Ariz., and who have sold their home at 3434 So. 28th St., to Mr. and Mrs. David W. Seyler, will be kept on the hop, skip and jump with the numerous farewell courtesies.

As a matter of fact the parties already have begun. Last Saturday evening, for instance, Mr. and Mrs. Hallett shared honors with Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson of Laguna, Calif., when Dr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Johnston entertained at dinner at the University Club.

Before we go on to more parties for Mr. and Mrs. Hallett we have a word or two to say about Mr. and Mrs. Peterson — They came from the west coast via St. Louis, Mo., where they spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Randolph, formerly of Lincoln. The two young Randolph daughters, Margy and Kathy, joined Mr. and Mrs. Peterson not only for the trip to Lincoln, where they were the guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Randolph — but on to California to await the arrival of their parents who are flying to the coast.

Now back to Mr. and Mrs. Hallett and a Friday evening courtesy in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. C. Ned Cadwallader were host and hostess for the party which was a canape affair between the hours of 5 o'clock and 7 o'clock at the Lincoln Country Club. Thirty-six guests were invited. We should say 36 guests — plus. The plus was a five year-old, Eric Cadwallader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cadwallader of Deerfield, Ill., who is visiting his grandparents, and who is the house guest of his aunt, Mrs. L. M. Novak and Mr. Novak. We understand that young Eric's main interests in Lincoln include swimming lessons, and the performance of Pinocchio presented by the community Playhouse Children's Theater. His cousin, Terri Novak, plays the leading role.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett will be leaving Lincoln on July 5, but will spend two months traveling while awaiting the completion of their new Scottsdale home — They will devote a little time to Estes Park and Grand Lake, Colo.—will go to Taos, N.Mex., and then on to Santa Fe.

Right now we have a come-and-gone guest to mention. Mrs. Melbourne Briscoe left yesterday after a Monday-to-Friday stay in Lincoln as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Wieland. From Lincoln Mrs. Briscoe went to Washington D.C., where she will linger briefly before returning to Italy where Dr. Briscoe is with the Anti-Submarine Warfare Division of NATO.

Just a few short years ago Mrs. Briscoe was Vicky Cullen — a coed on the University of Nebraska campus where she served as president of her sorority, Gamma Phi Beta. She was graduated in 1963.

The Other Half Of The City Council

By PHYLLIS BOWEN

Every week the City of Lincoln continues to operate under the watchful direction of the six members of the city council, and every week each member's home and family continue to function with the cooperation of his spouse — the person behind the scenes.

Recently we decided to talk to these people, Mrs. Merle Hale, Mrs. Richard Hartsock, Mrs. Harry (Pete) Peterson, Dr. Michael Boosalis, Mrs. W. H. (Bill) Davidson and Mrs. Erv Peterson.

We began by talking with the wives of the newly elected council members. Mrs. Hale isn't a newcomer to public life although she is being introduced to a new phase in civic activity. She now is the wife of a public office holder. Mrs. Hale has been and is active in a variety of organizations including Deborah Avery Chapter DAR and the State DAR organization, the Huguenot Society, the Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century, Temple Chapter of Eastern Star, Daughters of the Nile, Red Cross and church work.

In addition to her many organizations, Mrs. Hale finds time to be "sort of an answering service" for her husband. They often discuss problems that the city council is considering because she is interested. Mrs. Hale says that it would have taken her years to learn what she has absorbed in little more than a month about Lincoln and its problems. This, she says, is because she is able to discuss things with her husband and gain from his knowledge of the city and its needs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale's family includes their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hale and children, Kim and Terry, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hale, and their sons, Mark, Brett and Lane, of Atlanta, Ga. Besides being a busy grandmother who thinks the rest of her family is "too far away," Mrs. Hale finds time for a little bridge and much gourmet cooking.

Mrs. Richard Hartsock is a busy wife and mother with a family of 10-year-old twin boys, Bobby and Billy; Jimmy, 7, and Tommy, 5, to keep her spare moments occupied.

Young Bobby and Billy were active supporters in their father's campaign for city council. They set up campaign headquarters in their basement, rang door bells to ask voters for support in their father's campaign and composed possible campaign slogans. They had some difficulty in understanding why Mr. Hartsock didn't adopt their suggestions for campaign slogan — such as "Put a little 'Hart' in your vote. Vote for Hartsock for council."

Mrs. Hartsock says the family has adjusted well to the amount of time Mr. Hartsock must devote to city council business. She thinks he probably will continue in some area of public life and is sure the boys would be in favor of it.

In addition to a family and home, Mrs. Hartsock finds time to be active in several organizations including Junior League, La Sertoma Club, of the Alpha Phi alumnae club, and she enjoys camping, fishing and boating with her family.

Mrs. Harry (Pete) Peterson found herself continuously answering the telephone during her husband's campaign for a city council seat. When he wasn't home she would post notes all over the house telling him of the calls he had received.

Mrs. Peterson says she hopes Mr. Peterson will "do whatever he wants and enjoys" in continuing to serve the public as an office holder or private citizen.

She is active in Electra Chapter of Eastern Star, church groups, and has been a Girl Scout leader for more than five years. Her other interests include the Socialites Bridge Club, bowling, in several leagues — as well as collecting recipes and salt and pepper shakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson have a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin D. Walla, and son, David, who live in South Bend, Ind., and a son, Jerry, who is a Specialist Fourth Class in the Army and is stationed in Thailand.

Dr. Michael Boosalis recommends that all women who have an interest and ability for politics go into the field. Many women are afraid to lose, he comments, but they should just jump right in and try.

He takes telephone calls for his wife, because he is quite often the only person home. He says he is happy to take the messages and that most people are very polite with just a few rude callers.

While Mrs. Boosalis has been on the council, Dr. Boosalis has made quite a number of friends both within the University and outside University circles. He hopes that his wife will stay in politics if she wants to do so.

They have one daughter, Mary Beth, who is attending Carleton College in Northfield, Minn. Dr. Boosalis says he feels Mrs. Boosalis' service on the city council for the past 10 years has been a wonderful educational experience for their daughter.

He doesn't think he really has become a part of public life as his work at the University of Nebraska in plant pathology has kept him quite occupied and Mrs. Boosalis finds time to attend to her city council duties and do some extra cooking and sewing.

Mrs. W. E. (Bill) Davidson says she has had to curtail some of her purely social activities for civic responsibilities since Mr. Davidson has served on the city council.

She helps with office work in Mr. Davidson's office and is active in the Democratic Party, religious organizations, money raising projects for charity groups and enjoys knitting as a hobby.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson have a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Davidson, and a daughter, Joyce, all living in Lincoln.

She doesn't know if Mr. Davidson will continue to hold public office, but he "thoroughly enjoys it. He loves the job and feels people should be active in government," she comments.

Mrs. Erv Peterson says she would just as soon stay out of public life as much as possible. She finds that very few telephone calls come for Mr. Peterson at their home.

She says they are fortunate in having their son and daughter-in-law and son-in-law and daughter and their families living in Lincoln. They are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Peterson, Scott, Peggy and Dan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Merry, Chris, Corlyn and Chan. "Of course, we are always available to babysit for our grandchildren," Mrs. Peterson adds.

Mrs. Peterson feels her interests in bowling, bridge, Cosmopolis, Daughters of the Nile, Temple Chapter of Eastern Star, YWCA, and Lincoln Symphony Association, keep her reasonably active but not too busy. She also enjoys gardening and both she and Mr. Peterson swim, boat and water ski.

Dick Hooked On Pageants

... His 7th Miss Nebraska Event

By CRAIG CALLAWAY
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

York — In one way, all Miss Nebraska Pageants are alike: the people who work on them must give time, more time, and then some.

Dick Wood of Beatrice is in that group. He's working this week in his seventh year as pageant producer.

Said Wood, who works at a clothing store during the off season: "This is my vacation."

Wood, a Beatrice native, has been hooked on pageants since 1945 when, on vacation in Atlantic City, he saw Bess Myerson win the Miss America contest. "That's when my interest started," he said.

As he moved about the country since, he has worked with state and local pageants in Idaho, North Carolina and Florida before returning to live in Beatrice.

A New York City resident for many years, Wood was in theatrical work, and between 1943 and 1956 he directed traveling musical productions in 38 states.

Plenty To Do

Some day he plans to return to New York to live, but meanwhile there's plenty to do in Nebraska when he's not selling clothes.

Last winter he directed the Fairbury Kiwanis production of "Kiss Me Kate," then turned immediately to the Pershing College production of "Lil' Abner."

At the same time, he and other Miss Nebraska staffers were getting started, about six months ahead, planning the pageant. By the time the event week arrived, he figured he'd put in a "bare minimum" of 150 hours in planning, he said.

Starting the Sunday of pageant week, the staff went to work on choral and orchestral effects. From then through Saturday night's crowning of the new Miss Nebraska, it's a series of 14 to 20-hour days. "You just start each day," Wood said, "and you go until everything gets done, then you take what's left over and get some sleep."

Every problem one can and some one can't think of comes up sooner or later. One is solved by advising a contestant which side of the stage has the better jacks for her microphones. Another is settled when the emcee decides she can make a dress change in exactly one minute.

Cites Scholarships

What makes it worth the effort? For one thing, Wood likes the scholarship side of the pageant. Country-wide, the state and national contests have provided more than $5 million in financial aid to participants since they began, he said.

Otherwise, there's getting to meet and work with the "cream of the crop" of the young women of the state, and the "thousands" of volunteers who give time and talent, he said.

Wood described the majority of persons who work on the pageants as "simply tremendous" and "extremely creative."

"Just getting to know those people," he said, "is worth everything I do."

Bellevue 17-Year-Old's Death Added To State Fatality Toll

Omaha (AP) — The State Patrol in Omaha reported that the death of a Bellevue youth Wednesday would be counted as a traffic fatality.

The boy died of head injuries received when he fell from a moving car, the patrol said.

Leonard J. McKenzie, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKenzie, was injured Monday night a mile south of Omaha on U.S. 73-75 when he fell from the car driven by Douglas J. Navrsky of Bellevue, the patrol said.

Trooper Harold Niehart said witnesses reported that McKenzie had apparently tried to crawl into the car through the window while the car was moving slowly out of a drive-in restaurant in Bellevue.

Reports indicate that McKenzie was hanging outside the car from his waist down when he saw a Bellevue police cruiser and tried to push himself away from the car, but fell, striking his head on the pavement, Niehart said.

Lexington Pilot Slightly Injured, Young Son Okay

Madrid (AP) — A Lexington man suffered cuts on the nose and back of his head and his son escaped injury Friday when a light plane flipped while the pilot attempted to land in a pasture east of Madrid.

The pilot, John Gauger, 38, said he and seven-year-old son Kurt were en route from Lexington to Denver when fog closed in and he attempted to land the small Piper plane.

The plane touched down and went into a slight depression, flipping over on its back. The plane was demolished.

Hastings College Purpose In '70s Discussed

The purpose of Hastings College in the 1970s and what its unique characteristics should be is the focus of a two-day meeting of the college trustees here.

Some 22 members of the Hastings board of trustees convened here Friday to begin discussions about long-range goals and means to achieve them.

College President Dr. Theron Maxson opened the sessions with a review of the present stance of the college in terms of academic stature and curriculum, student life, physical plant and finances and the historical nature of the church-related college.

No action is expected to be taken by the trustees during the conference, according to Marvin Fink, administrative vice president.

In addition to discussing the purpose and characteristics of the school in the 1970's, the trustees will consider:

—Whether the college can financially exist and accomplish its objectives.

—Whether a religiously oriented small college can exist from the standpoint of attracting student body and gaining financial support without substantial financial contribution from a major religious denomination.

—What the functions and responsibilities of the trustees, administrators, faculty and students should be.

Right To Wiretap, Bug Claimed

... Against Those 'Seeking To Attack And Subvert Government'

© New York Times Service

Washington — The Justice Department claimed Friday that it had the legal power to eavesdrop without court approval on members of organizations that it believes to be seeking to "attack and subvert the government by unlawful means."

In court papers filed in Federal District Court in Chicago, the government disclosed that it had used wiretapping or "bugging" to eavesdrop on some or all of the eight antiwar activists who have been indicted for inciting riots at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last summer.

In admitting the surveillance, the Justice Department claimed for the first time that it has the power under the Constitution to eavesdrop on domestic groups, free of court supervision and without regard for the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution.

"There can be no doubt that there are today in this country organizations which intend to use force and other illegal means to attack and subvert the existing forms of government," the government brief argued.

"Moreover, in recent years there have been an increasing number of instances in which federal troops have been called upon by the states to aid in the suppression of riots.

"Faced with such a state of affairs, any president who takes seriously his oath to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution will no doubt determine that it is not 'unreasonable' to utilize electronic surveillance to gather intelligence information concerning those organizations which are committed to the use of illegal methods to bring about changes in our form of government and which may be seeking to foment violent disorders," the document stated.

The latter reference, and others in the 32-page document, made it clear that the government is claiming the power to eavesdrop on black militant groups and other radical elements without going through the procedures established by the crime control act passed by Congress last year, or those safeguards generally felt to be required by the Fourth Amendment.

These procedures require court approval before any eavesdropping is conducted. They also limit the time of eavesdropping and impose other restrictions on government surveillance.

Friday's claim by the government amounts to an assertion that federal agents may legally continue to carry out the kind of unregulated eavesdropping that was used for years by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Elijah Muhammad, the Black Muslim leader.

Lincoln Bank South To Build New Facility

Lincoln Bank South at 3737 So. 27th announced plans Friday to build a new bank within the next year across the street from its present location.

According to a deed filed in the Lancaster County Register of Deeds office, the bank purchased for $50,000 two lots and a portion of a third lot on the east side of 27th Street from the Catholic Bishop of Lincoln.

Roger Gohde, vice president of the bank, said the bank plans in the near future to build an entire new facility including drive-in windows.

He said plans are not completed but the bank anticipates a move from its present leased location sometime in 1970.

Lincolnite Gets Standing Ovation

Washington (AP) — Specialist Charles Chris Hagemeister of Lincoln, Neb., was one of two Medal of Honor winners greeted with a standing ovation Thursday as they stood at attention on the House floor.

They were introduced during a special 30-minute tribute to the American flag held by the House in observance of Flag Day, which is Saturday.

Police Arrest Two Wanted By The FBI

Lincoln police said they arrested Friday night two men wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The arrests came after a citizen called police and complained about two men working on a car they had parked in his driveway in southeast Lincoln.

Police said Det. Rolfe Woodruff took the call from the citizen and ran a license check on the car through the State Patrol, "for no reason other than being careful."

Shortly after the message was sent to the FBI by the State Patrol, Det. Woodruff received notice that the two men were wanted by the FBI for being Absent Without Leave (AWOL) from Ft. Knox, Ky. and for driving a stolen car across the various state boundary lines between Kentucky and Nebraska.

The two were also wanted for a series of burglaries committed between Kentucky and Nebraska. The stolen property is "probably worth thousands of dollars," a police spokesman said.

Eastern Boys Training School Doomed?

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation to establish an Eastern Boys Training School between Omaha and Lincoln appeared doomed Friday after surviving a kill motion on a 20-14 vote.

Twenty-five votes were required to ax the measure since it had been brought back from final reading to the second stage of floor consideration for amendment.

More than a dozen senators were absent from Friday's afternoon session.

Bill Held

The bill, LB601, was amended to restrict expenditures for the proposed school during the coming biennium to $15,000, then held for further action.

The $15,000 limitation, proposed by Sen. Henry

Pedersen Jr. of Omaha, and accepted by the bill's chief sponsor, Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice, was adopted on a 17-15 vote.

Funds would be used to determine a site for the proposed school, Carstens has suggested consideration of facilities at the former Mead Ordnance Plant.

Knight Objects

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln

asked that the bill be killed since, despite the dollar limitation for 1969-71, it would "commit us to another institution."

Instead, he said, priority should be accorded to improving the Boys Training School at Kearney and the program for young boys recently initiated at the Girls Training School at Geneva.

Estimated cost of a new training school has been pegged at $8½ million by the legislative fiscal analyst's office, Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland noted.

Facility 'Needed'

Carstens said the new facility is needed to provide "sound, effective direction and correction" for minor offenders who could be segregated from major juvenile offenders assigned to Kearney.

GONDOLIERS GO ON STRIKE

Venice (UPI) — Tourists in this canal-laced city were up a creek Friday — the gondoliers of Venice went out on strike.

The 13-hour walkout beginning at 5 p.m. was called to protest alleged lack of city action on licensing and a demand from gondoliers that some canals be placed off-limits to power boats.

The strike involved the gondoliers who propel their boats with poles as well as those whose craft are motorized.

NCCY Set To Seek Support For Comprehensive Program

Support for the comprehensive children and family services program proposed for the State Department of Public Welfare, but rejected by the Legislature's Budget Committee, will be sought by the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth (NCCY), it was announced Friday.

The Budget Committee recommended no funds for regional offices to provide children and family services throughout the state.

NCCY officials expressed disappointment in a letter to members and associates "because they (the committee) would not permit even the beginning of a modified program of comprehensive services."

The budget recommendations, it was declared, "would even lead to a further restriction of social welfare services."

NCCY members were urged to contact senators "immediately to let them know the importance of the comprehensive program to the children of Nebraska."

The modified regional program proposed by Welfare Director Robert McManus and supported by Gov. Norbert Tiemann called for six regional offices to be located, in Scottsbluff, North Platte, the Grand Island-Hastings area, Norfolk, Lincoln and Omaha.

The modified proposal would have required $179,000 from state funds which would generate $750,000 from federal funds, it was reported.

The original regional program was estimated to cost about $600,000 in state funds, which would have generated about $1.9 million in federal funds.

The letter stated that in the year ending June 1967, the per capita expense by public agency (federal, state or local combined) for child welfare services in Nebraska was in the bottom range of all the states.

Nebraska spent $1.34 compared to New York's $17.11 per child, it was noted.

Stocks Growers Hit Plan To Allow Beef Production On Diverted Land

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The first opposition to a proposed plan to allow the production of beef cattle on land where the government would purchase crop easements was voiced in a resolution at the Nebraska Stock Growers Association 80th annual meeting here Friday.

The Stock Growers said, "The NSGA strongly opposes any proposal which would allow the production of beef cattle on vast number of acres of land diverted for crop production under federal government programs."

urged to defeat LB668 and any similar restrictive legislation that would discriminate against legitimate farmers and ranchers in any manner," read the resolution.

On federal tax matters, the NSGA passed resolutions favoring an increased holding period of at least 24 months for livestock to qualify for capital gains treatment, application of depreciation recapture rules to purchased livestock, and a sliding scale for recapture of land improvement expenses when property is exchanged or sold in less than 10 years.

Any provisions to lower from $50,000 to $25,000 the loss regulation that applies to hobby farming for a period of three out of five years was also termed dangerous to cattlemen who suffer losses through price drops or drought.

Addressing the stock growers Friday were Sen. Roman Hruska and William Galbraith, deputy under secretary for congressional relations in the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Galbraith is a native of Beemer.

Carstens said the new facility is needed to provide "sound, effective direction and correction" for minor offenders who could be segregated from major juvenile offenders assigned to Kearney.

Carstens said the cost of a facility for 60 to 80 boys would not even approach the $8½ million figure.

"It would be a tragic mistake to neglect this problem," he warned. "We're not given many second chances."

The new school was recommended by the Legislative Council crime study committee.

Amendment Rejected

The committee plan means that "those who pollute the air will be able to set the rules," Pedersen argued. His amendment was rejected on a 6-18 vote.

NU Pair Attend Leadership Camp

Susan Wiechert of Lincoln and Barbara Nelson of Falls City attended the Co-op Youth Leadership Camp at Liberty, Mo., as delegates of the University of Nebraska 4-H Club.

Last week while attending the dedication program at the U.S. Meat Animal Research Center, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin said that he had not had any serious objection from the beef industry regarding such a plan.

Profiteering Hit

While the NSGA said it opposes tax measures that would single out agriculture for treatment other than business or industry or harm the legitimate operator, it said members recognize that tax profiteering cannot be condoned in agriculture or any other industry.

Hanna Re-Elected

Bob Hanna of Valentine and Merlyn Carlson of Lodgepole were re-elected president and vice president, respectively, of the NSGA.

Air Pollution

In other action, lawmakers gave first round floor ap-

Opposes LB668

In other action, the NSGA called for defeat of LB668, the corporation farm bill that has now been placed on general file in the Nebraska Legislature.

The Excess Deductions Account (EDA) which would abolish capital gains and the cash basis of accounting was termed dangerous to the legitimate operator.

Court Backs Hiring Of Fire Chief

By Associated Press

The State Supreme Court held Friday that the city of Hastings acted properly in going outside the Hastings Fire Department to obtain a new fire chief.

chief had been vacant for a number of years, and the Civil Service Commission took the position this precluded promotional examination because a Hastings ordinance provides that promotions shall be made from one class to the next.

The mayor asked the Civil Service Commission to certify eligible fire chief candidates between the ages of 30 and 55. Examinations were taken by three fire captains in Hastings and scores of applicants "diligently solicited outside the department," the opinion noted.

age. If not enough candidates resulted, the commission could turn to non-residents, the district court held.

In reversing the district court, the Supreme Court held that the maximum age of 35, specified for original entrance into the fire service, applies only to the lowest rank of fireman.

"Promotional examination for chief was required if practical," the opinion added. "The commission acted within the bounds of its discretion to certify eligibility on merit."

The opinion reversed the judgment of the Adams County District Court and the case was remanded to the lower court.

The Civil Service Commission certified three names, including that of Aurcle Bradshaw, 50, chief instructor in the Wichita, (Kan.) Fire Department. Bradshaw, highest scorer in the competitive tests, received the appointment.

—Held that the Hall County District Court should not have dismissed a suit brought by Loren S. Higgs for refund of taxes collected from him at Grand Island.

—The district court sustained a demurrer — holding in effect that Higgs had not stated a cause of action — and dismissed the suit. The Supreme Court disagreed, holding that the Higgs petition did state a cause of action and the general demurrer was improperly sustained. The case thereupon was sent back to district court for further proceedings.

—Reversed the Douglas County District Court and held that the lower court should have entered a verdict for Westinghouse Electric Corp. in a suit brought against Westinghouse by Western Plastics Corp., alleging breach of warranty of quality on a piece of machinery. A jury found for Western Plastics but the district court ordered a new trial. The Supreme Court said the judgment should have gone to Westinghouse notwithstanding the verdict, without a new trial.

"A civil service commission certifying eligibles for fire chief has broad discretion in the absence of legislative restriction to choose between examinations for promotion and examinations for original entrance," the Supreme Court held in an opinion prepared by Judge Robert L. Smith.

FUNGUS is AMONG-US

This is the season for the beginning of fungus in lawns. Prevention is better than the cure — a lawn that is developing fungus damage will have an undercaste of brown and the lawn will appear to be thinning out. This Is Fungus!

We call it "melting out" because of this thinning. If you will put a preventative application of Scutl or Turf Builder Plus One now and another the last of June, you should prevent large damage areas, later.

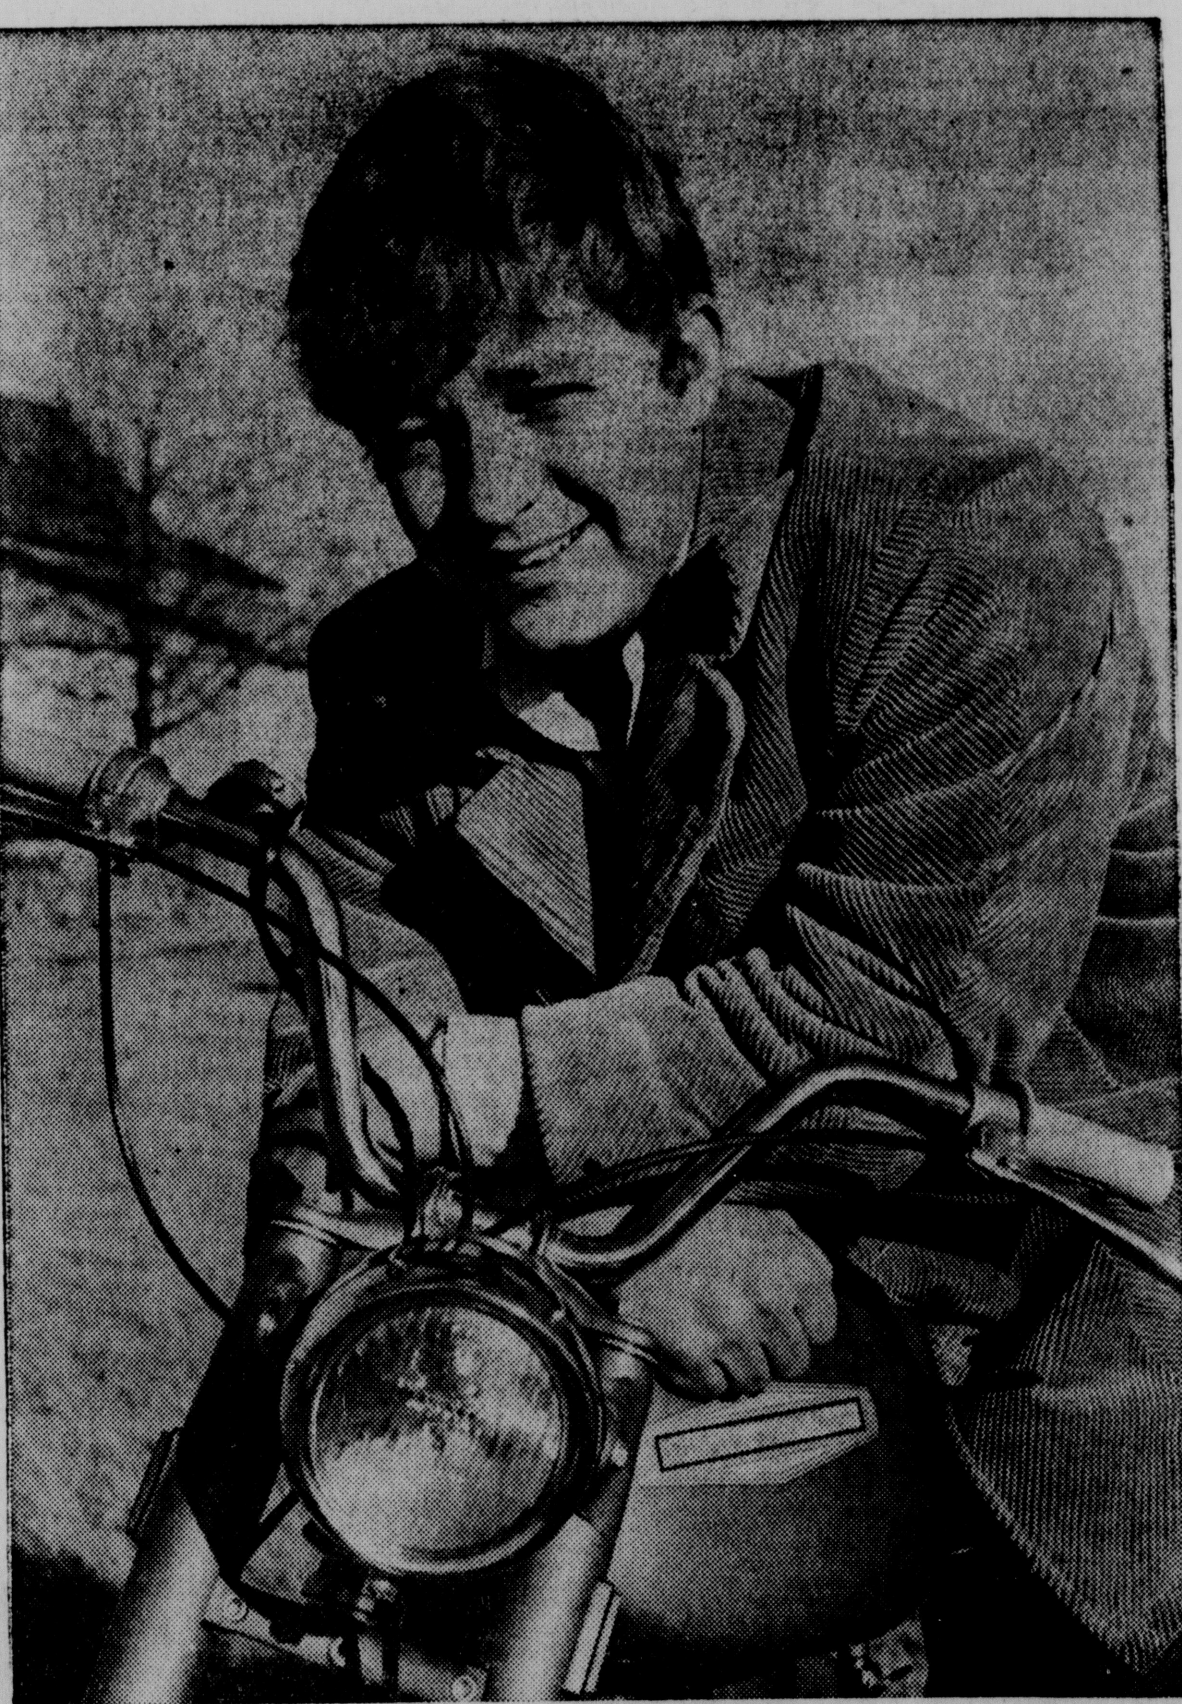

Scutl Arrests fungus activity but does not fertilize 5,000 sq. ft. $5.95
